MD Ally | Houston, TX | Front End Developer

To whom it may concern:

I am writing this to express interest in the Front End Developer opportunity with Front-end Web Developer. The skills I have gained over the years lead me to believe I would be a great fit for your company! I have a strong motivation for learning, growing, and collaborating with other web developers and personnel to ultimately provide a final product for the end-user.

I have spent the better part of the past three years as a freelance web developer. It has helped me hone my skills specifically in CSS, HTML, and JavaScript/ReactJS by building both WordPress and custom websites for my clients from conception to completion.

With the company HostGator, I moved up the ranks from frontline Web Advisor to my current position as a Web Administrator Team Lead. Through that time, I have become a better communicator and team player. I work alongside a team of other coaches to develop and train frontline agents in various areas on how to resolve website errors/issues. Our role has expanded to not only assisting with website issues but also increasing the knowledge of the new products we offer to better a customer's business. I strive to be a team player and move forward the core values of our company as a whole.

In my spare time, I stay sharp by working on other projects for my professional development in SQL, Bash/SSH, and other coding languages/software. One of my favorite projects I completed recently was my portfolio website which utilizes HTML, CSS, and vanilla JavaScript. Building the site from scratch pushed me to understand more deeply the complexities of the foundational elements of frontend web development.

I have over three years of experience applying my collaborative skills and website coding best practices to every project and job I pursue. Based on the skills I have accumulated, I am confident I would be a fantastic fit for the Web Dev team at MD Ally. Thank you for taking the time to review my resume and cover letter. I look forward to hearing from you appreciate your consideration.

Best,
